Do you think i can tell the people in the wikipedia that i am Brazilian? I have some masters in english and some masters in Portuguese. This situation is going to remain, also with the History of the world, since is now being written the history of what we call the World War. Everywhere in the world, the constant colonial penetration has made some types of language to be outdated. If you are not from Brazil or from Spain, you have to live with us the Portuguese or the Spanish people. Now, if you don't understand that "porque" is "because" and "pon me" is "give me", you have to start with our language. Yes, it is true, but i also have some. Portuguese and Spanish are spoken in Asia and Africa. The first steps on the Brazilian history were from 1720 to 1820, but the first steps were in 1807, from the Province of Rio de Janeiro, which became a state in 1824. Brazil is the southernmost country of America, and the third largest of the South American continent. The problem is that we have always lived in the past. People live in the present and the future. The first step for a normal people is to live in the present. The problem with the people from Africa and Asia, is that they want to live in the future. The Roman Empire at the time of the fall was the most powerful in the history of mankind, but at the time of the fall they were not too happy about their empire. Now, their knowledge of the history of the world is very bad. Then, we have the Turks, the Arabs, the Hindus, the Chinese, the Russians, and all this others in the Americas. Why? Because the Romans know nothing of their languages. After the fall of Rome, there were many centuries without their knowledge of languages. The problem is that we are from the religion of the Greeks. We have not built our country without this theology. The mission of these guys of history is to destroy religions. Now that we have the Nazis and the Axis with the Nazis... The strongest point on the history of the world is the ending of World War II. There are many Jewish guys of the World, with a lot of knowledge. Why? because there are a lot of scientists on the history of the world. The problem is that these guys don't speak English or Portuguese. There are so many guys of the world who know the future and not the past. The problem is that we don't speak the languages of 82157476af
